Earth Day 2026

with Countrywide Community Initiatives

This Earth Day 2026, under the powerful theme “Our Power, Our Planet,” Atlantic Bank proudly reaffirmed its commitment to building a more sustainable future; one shaped not only by policy, but by the voices, actions, and stories of the communities we serve.

Embracing the spirit of “Write Your Story,” our branches countrywide united around a shared purpose: to create meaningful, hands-on impact within their communities. From the vibrant surroundings of Chico’s Park in Independence Village to the island charm of Bahia Puesta Del Sol Community Park in Caye Caulker, employees stepped beyond their branches and into the heart of their communities, each action forming part of a collective story rooted in care, responsibility, and positive change.

Through coordinated clean-up initiatives, teams worked to restore and preserve the natural beauty of cherished public spaces, reinforcing the message that every effort, no matter how small, contributes to a larger narrative of environmental stewardship. Tree planting activities were also carried out in parks and schools and communities across the country, symbolizing a shared investment in a greener, more sustainable tomorrow.

This year’s theme reminds us that real change begins at the grassroots level. It is written by individuals, shaped by communities, and brought to life through the everyday choices we make.

As Atlantic Bank continues its sustainability journey, the bank remains committed to empowering its employees and communities to take action and write their own stories of impact today, tomorrow, and for years to come.
